MRS. NATION'S IRE VENTED ON THE GOVERNOR OF KANSAS.

Dramatic and Sensational Incident in the Executive Chamber of the Capitol at Topeka.

DURING WHICH GOV, STANLEY WAS CALLED MANY NAMES.

Denounced as a "Lawbreaker" and "Perjurer" for Not Assisting in the Crusade Against "Joints."

AND THEN THERE WAS A WAR OF INDISTINGUISHABLE WORDS.

Carrie Determined to Use Her Hatchet Again-Her Work Indorsed by Local Prohibitionists.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 28.-Mrs. Carrie Nation to-day visited the office of Governor William E. Stanley in his chambers in the Capitol building and for a solid hour arraigned the chief executive of the State for his failure to close the saloons of Kansas. Then in turn she visited the offices of Attorney General Goddard, County Attorney Nichols and Sheriff Porter and demanded of each that they close the saloons. When Mrs. Nation entered Governor Stanley's office she was followed by a crowd of newspaper reporters and others. By turns she upbraided Governor Stanley for his failure to uphold the laws against liquor selling or begged him for aid to carry on her crusade. She put her questions with flerceness and answered them herself without giving the Governor time to utter a complete sentence in his own defense. Mrs. Nation accused Governor Stanley of branding her as a lawbreaker and de manded to know if he had a better method than she of ridding the State of saloons. "Do you think my method is right?" she

"No. I don't," replied the Governor.

"Well, Governor, have you a betetr one?" As the Governor turned in his chair to make answer every one listened intently. "No. I don't think I have," he finally replied. Continuing, he managed to edge in a few words more. "What can I do? I am powerless. The law does not allow me to do what I desire. The law gives me no privileges. What can I do?"

"If necessary call out the militia," wa Mrs. Nation's prompt reply. Then the crusader began a philippic that caused Governor Stanley's anger to rise, and the crowd grouped about his desk to look or in wonder.

CALLS HIM A PERJURER. "You can close every joint in Kansas, if you will, Governor Stanley," she said, with force. "You can do it if you want to, but you won't. You are a lawbreaker yourself, if you don't. You took your oath of office to keep the Constitution. You refuse my request; you are not only a lawbreaker but a perjurer."

As Mrs. Nation proceeded, she became more vehement and her voice quivered. She rose from her chair and looked full in the face of Governor Stanley, and, pointing her finger at him, called him "lawbreaker" and "perjurer" without the least show of fear. She repeated these words of accusation again and again. He tried to make reply, but she gave him no chance, the words of invective pouring from her with a rush that would not be stemmed. Finally, his temper gone, Governor Stanley arose from his chair and shouted back: "You cannot come here and talk this way to me. You cannot talk to me this way, I say. You are a woman, but I won't stand it. You will have to leave if you cannot be quiet."

"I am a mother. I am a grandmother, and I represent the mothers of the State.' "You don't. You don't represent them," almost shouted the Governor.

The words flew back and forth with such flerceness that it was impossible to disth gush them. The room was in an uproar. Then Mrs. Nation talked more calmly, pleading with the Governor to aid her. "You come with me and help smash saloons," she urged, and then she added: "If you won't help us-if you won't help me. I'll go around and I'll smash! smash! smash! Governor. The devil seems to have a cinch on men, but he has not a cinch on the hatchets and rocks."

STANLEY'S PROMISE. Finally Governor Stanley volunteered: "You get the prosecuting attorneys of the different counties to put the 'joint' keepers in jall, and I'll use my power as Governor to keep them in. I'll see that they are not pardoned out." This promise instantly transformed Mrs. Nation. She fairly beamed with joy, and, thanking the Governor, started for the office of Attorney General Goddard. The attorney general was engaged, but she forced her way into his private office and introduced herself with these words:

"We want you to close these joints, these She demanded that he remove those of ficials who neglected their duty in allowing the saloons to run, and when he evaded her direct questions and referred her the county attorney, Mrs. Nation asked: "Mr. Attorney General, you are not dodging, are you? Now, don't dodge."

With a parting injunction to do what he had sworn to on taking his oath, Mrs. Nation, followed by an army of people with a body guard of newspaer men, started for the county attorney's office.

"The Governor and attorney general are fodging," she said, "but there is no dodging my hatchet."

She had lost her wraps and her veil during her raid on the Statehouse, but she wasted no time looking for them.

To County Attorney Nichols she repeated her demands, and finally said she wished to swear out a warrant for the saloon keeper's wife who had attacked her Saturcay night with a broomstick. Mrs. Nation | of Filipino infantry and cavalry, says the then went to the office of Sheriff Cook.

towards a newspaper man in the crowd who had pointed at him, seized the offender's collar and made a motion to strike him. Others interfered, and Cook, returning to Mrs. Nation's side, asked her to his private office to continue the argument alone.

The chief of police was picked out for the next onslaught, but his office was found locked, and Mrs. Nation harangued a crowd that had gathered in the street near the City Hall.

Mrs. Nation made a short address at the meeting of the State Temperance Union today, and created much enthusiasm. Her address was mainly an account of her experiences during the past few months.

Prohibition League Members Commend Her Anti-Saloon Crusade. The Indianapolis Prohibition League held TO a meeting last night in the hall at New York and Alabama streets for the purpose of discussing the anti-saloon crusade of Mrs. Carrie Nation, the Kansas reformer. E. W. Hammon, pastor at the Hillside Christian Church, and F. M. Ramsey were the principal speakers. They both, in the course of their talks, declared in favor of Mrs. Nation's methods, and Dr. Hammon said it took a radical to bring about a re-TEMPER BUT ONCE form and a man should not abide by the FUNERAL law when the law is wrong. He also said that Mrs. Nation would die the death of a martyr. He further thought that such a movement should be started in this city. Mr. Ramsey said he was originally from Kansas, and he told how that State came to adopt prohibition. After these speeches, five-minute talks were made by those present and the majority were in favor of starting a reform in this city. B. F. Watson offered a set of resolutions commending Mrs. Nation for her work and saying that the service she had done for society had been great. The resolutions further stated that the same thing should be done in this city, for the reason that the city officials refused to pay any attention to violations of the law by the saloons. The resolutions also said that there was liquor sold in the city every hour in the day, and that winercoms now flourish in this city to the ruination of young at a prolonged period of mourning. MANILA, Jan. 28.-General Funston reports that practically all organized insurgents in his district have been dispersed, with the exception of disconnected bands in the mountains. Sixty-five more rebels in the island of Panay have surrendered to the United States authorities at Cabautan.

George T. Rice, editor of the Daily Bu letin, who was ordered by General Mac-Arthur to be deported because of the pub lication in his paper of allegations against Lieutenant Commander William Braunersreuther, captain of port, sailed to-day. It was ordered that he be held as a prisoner until his arrival at San Francisco.

ROUTE OF PROCESSION TO BE DRAPED IN BLACK AND PURPLE.

Edward VII Proclaimed King Windsor with Ancient Ceremony-German Crown Prince Decorated.

LONDON, Jan. 28.-A supplement of the Gazette this afternoon announces that it is not desired that the public wear deep mourning for the Queen after March 6, but that half mourning should be worn until April 17. There has been a strong outcry from manufacturers and merchants dealers regarded the first edict with dismay, and widespread injury to the colored goods trade, and in many cases actual ruin was anticipated. Following the precedent of 1768, when the city merchants petitioned ward VII, begging him to limit the period of national mourning. On previous occasions, the King, as Prince of Wales, used his influence in this direction, and now, as King, he has asserted his well-known opposition to the observance of long periods of official mourning.

Practically all business will be suspended on Saturday. The stores will not be opened except in the poorer quarters. In order to give Londoners a full opportunity to witness the funeral procession it has been decided to extend the route, which is now fixed to pass Buckingham Palace, through James Park and past St. James Palace to Piccadilly, and then along Piccadilly to Hyde Park corner, through Hyde Park, emerging at the marble arch, then along Edgeware road to Paddington station. This is double the length of the route originally intended and will occupy fully two hours. For similar reasons the route at Windsor has been extended to include High street, Park street and Long Walk before entering the castle. The entire route will be draped in purple and black. The gun-carriage bearing the coffin will be drawn by the six cream-colored Flemish horses used by the late Queen at the time of the diamond jubilee, and the same harness will be used; but it will be covered with crepe. The outer casket was sent to Osborn to-night. The silver and brass inscription plates bear, in old English letters, the names and titles of her late

Majesty. DAY OF GENERAL MOURNING.

It was officially announced late this evening that King Edward had ordered Saturday to be observed as a day of general mourning. All the banks will be closed and business suspended. The arrangements for the funeral have been only partially determined. Almost everything thus far is provisional and subject to the approval of the King, who will come to London to-morrow to look over what has been proposed to give his decision.

By order of the King all draperies displayed by citizens will be purple. The procession from St. George's chapel royal at Windsor to Frogmore has been abandoned and the coffin will remain in the chapel until the day of interment, which will probably be Monday.

The funeral procession will leave Osborne House, Isle of Wight, on Friday at 2 p. m The route to the pier at Cowes will be lined with troops, and the royal personages will follow the coffin on foot. King Edward has commanded Mr. A. Forestier, the well-known artist of Black Kaiser, will attend the memorial service in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, on Sunday. According to present arrangements, the United States is the only country which will not be specially represented at the funeral of Queen Victoria. The United States embassy has received no instructions so far, and it is supposed that only the United States ambassador, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, and his staff, will be present. The ceremony of proclaiming King Edward VII as King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India continues in all the centers of the kingdom. The impressive function took place in the Royal Borough of Windsor at noon. Thousands witnessed the historic proceedings. The mayor read the proclamation from the base of the Queen's statue of Castle Hill, and the recorder read it at Henry VIII's gate. Fanfares and trumpets and cheers for his Majesty, in which the

While the crown prince knelt before the King to receive the insignia his Majesty addressed a few cordial words to the prince, and then, turning to Emperor William, in touching terms he thanked him for his visit at this time of sorrow and bereavement and dwelt on the personal and other ties uniting the two countries, Germany and Great Britain.

Salisbury Will Not Resign.

LONDON, Jan. 28.-There is not the slightest foundation, the Associated Press is officially informed, for the statement that Lord Salisbury will resign. Further, it is officially set forth that the premier's NEXT SATURDAY absence from Osborne at the time of the PASSENGER TRAIN IN A STORM death of Queen Victoria was due to the urgent request of King Edward, who feared Lord Salisbury's health might be impaired by the trying journey, as sea trips, particularly, go hard with the premier, Besides it was bitterly cold at Cowes. PEACE OR WAR AT ONCE ARREST OF CRAZY SNAKE MEANS ONE OF THESE TWO THINGS.

Several Members of His Band Are Captured-Situation Around Muskogee Is Much Improved.

HENRIETTA, I. T., Jan. 28.-Chitto Harjo, or Crazy Snake, the leader of the warring Creeks, who is a United States prisoner here, remained sullen to-day and refused to confer with Lieutenant Dixon. It is believed, however, that the chief will, sooner or later, show a friendly spirit and that the result will be a prompt ending of the insurrection. It is argued that Harjo and his followers have been taught to have a greater respect for the army officer than for deputies, believing that the soldier is more apt to treat them fairly. This has been brought about not by the marshals' actions, but because a deputy here and there in the past has not acted wisely to-

The news of the capture of Harjo reached Henrietta last night. When the chief, mounted and surrounded by four deputies, appeared at the tent of Lieutenant Dixon he was greeted considerately. Fifty soldiers, grouped about a campfire, sang "The Blue and the Gray" while Lieutenant Dixon made friendly overtures to the prisoner. The Indian sat, stoical and proud, in his saddle. "Tell him that the officer wishes to shake his hand as a friend," said Lieutenant Dixon to the interpreter. Harjo grunted his response and slipped from his pony. In the meantime soldiers hurriedly prepared a tent for the chief, while others grouped themselves about him. A reporter pressed the interpreter to get him to talk.

but Crazy Snake shook his head. The arrest of Harjo means one of two things-either the immediate ending of the threatened uprising or opening hostilities, probably the former. To-day the carbines of the camp guard were loaded ready for instant action and no soldier is allowed to leave camp. Lieutenant Dixon, in charge of the troop, is determined to be ready for any emergency. Chito Harjo was captured by Deputy Johnston, a negro, who has the reputation of being a fearless officer and who last Christmas captured John Tiger, the Creek, at Eufaula after the latter had killed three men and wounded an-

Chief Bell claims to have authority from the President to be governed by the treaty of 1830, and none other is recognized. The Choctaw Snakes want to hold lands in common and are opposed to allotment. No further trouble is expected.

The accident occurred in a cut on curve on a heavy down grade and at the end of a bridge. The third section of No. 87 was on the siding at Petroleum, with orders to wait there until the second section of No. 98 passed east. Engineer Davidson, who escaped with injuries, was the engineer on No. 87 and went to sleep on the siding. His fireman and forward brakeman, both of whom were killed, must also have been asleep, for they allowed him to take the train out. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 28 .- At the office of the Standard Oil Company in the southern part of the city to-day a young man forced W. E. Irvin, the cashier, at the muzzle of a revolver into a closet, and after locking him in made off with between $500 and $700 in cash. Irvin was preparing his cash for the bank, when a young man, probably twenty-four years of age, entered the office quietly and, placing a revolver at the cachier's head, ordered him to retreat to a small closet a few feet away. Irvin complied premptly and the robber turned the key on him. Then, placing the money in sight in his pocket, the robber walked out of the office one hundred feet to the railroad tracks, where he got on a passing freight train. Irvin was alone and it was some time before he could attract passers-by to release him. He then notified the police.

The police to-night arrested Ched Coverdale and Ralph Myer on suspicion of being guilty of the robbery. Later, Cashier Irvin positively identified Coverdale as the man who entered the office and robbed him. It is supposed that Myers was a confederate. CINCINNATI, Jan. 28.-The good citizens of this place are making a determined effort to prevent the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight advertised for Feb. 15, and are backed by Governor Nash. An application for an injunction will be filed in court to-morrow. The Saengerfest Athletic Association, which expects the fight will bring in about $100,000, is making just as determined an effort to "pull off" the match. Late to-night they stole a march on the good citizens, when both Jeffries and Ruhlin were arrested on a warrant sworn out by several persons, who acted at the instigation of the Athletic Association, charging them with being in training for a prize fight, which is a violation of the law in this State. The two of their arrest. Roebling is a magistrate in Delphi township, with an office not far from Jeffries's training quarters. The names of the persons who swore out cannot be learned to-night, but it is known that they are acting for the Saengerfest at $1,000 each and the men were ordered to appear for trial on Thursday morning. It is the intention of the fight promoters to bring out the legal question whether the men are training for a prize fight or a sparring contest. They claim that if it is decided that they are training merely for a sparring contest they are within the bounds of the State law, which allows sparring contests. It is not known to-night what action, if any, the opposition to the fight will take to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 .- Charles A. Towne, Mignesota's six weeks' senator, sang his senatorial death song to-day before a Senate crowled on the floor and in the galleries. The burden of his song was that independence should be granted the Filipinos. It was perhaps the ablest presentation of that side of the case that has been made in the Senate. The expiring senator read his remarks from an elaborate and carefully prepared manuscript. It was rather an essay smelling of the midnight oil than an oration hot and spontaneous. Senator Towne is a man above the medium height and build, with dark hair and eyes and smooth of face. Altogether his appearance impresses one favorably. He wears gold-mounted spectacles all the time, which helps to give him a scholarly and intellectual appearance. His voice is good, but to-day it was not well managed. The main thing that marred the effect of his effort was an air of self-conscious superiority, as much as to say that while there had been many speeches made on the Philippine problem by senators heretofore, when be had concluded all would have been said that could be said on the subject worth anybody's attention. This, however, his friends say, is a mere mannerism. Anyway it was a speech, one that will be long remembered, libeit he said nothing new, but if his facts and arguments were old he presented them in a new garb. Immediately after he had finished Senator Nelson presented the credential's of Moses H. Clapp, who was elected by the Legislature as the successor to the late Cushman K. Davis. They were seceived, and Mr. Clapp sworn in. Thus deamatically did Mr. Towne's
